Luca Zennaro & Michelangelo Scandroglio

The group, formed by two of the most promising talents in Italian jazz, features a sound that ranges across jazz, folk, and contemporary genres.

Born on the rooftops of Chioggia and rooted in the streets of Florence, the duo explores new sonic horizons through a shared musical identity and the absence of a rhythmic instrument.

Both composers, the two musicians create a repertoire made up of original pieces specifically written for this lineup alongside reimagined folk songs. Together, they create a meeting place halfway where one can dream of the past and envision the future.

In recent years, the Duo has performed at various international festivals and series, including the Italian Cultural Institutes of Mexico City, Stockholm, Madrid, Hamburg, and Brussels, as well as the Ambria Jazz Festival, Trentino Jazz Festival, Jazz & Wine Cormòns, Novara Jazz, and many others.

Luca Zennaro

Luca Zennaro is a guitarist, composer, and bandleader born in Chioggia (Venice) in 1997.
A prolific composer, at just 27 years old he has already released 5 albums under his own name, ranging from jazz and electronics to radical improvisation.

Luca is also the co-founder of Hackout!, a bass-less trio with which he has recorded three albums in the last three years and completed two European tours, China and Mexico, performing alongside French pianist Jacky Terrasson.
Luca has collaborated with national and international musicians including Benjamin Clementine, Francesco Bearzatti, Jacky Terrasson, Gabriele Mirabassi, Chris Fishman, Alessandro Lanzoni, and many others. In recent years, he has performed at festivals and clubs in China, Hong Kong, Mexico, India, Denmark, Sweden, the UK, Senegal, Norway, Germany, the Netherlands, Israel, Belgium, Greece, Spain, Hungary, France, Austria, and Latvia. Luca is considered one of the most compelling musicians on the Italian jazz scene. He currently holds the chair of Jazz Guitar at the "E. R. Duni" Conservatory of Music in Matera.

Michelangelo Scandroglio

Michelangelo Scandroglio is a double bassist and composer who has received numerous awards for his exceptional talent. He was recently selected for the prestigious Betty Carter Jazz Ahead program at the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C. Scandroglio is renowned for his remarkable contributions to the Italian jazz scene.

Among his many accolades, Scandroglio was one of the winners of the Riga International Jazz Award and Veneto Jazz's Tomorrow's Jazz Award for Best Italian Talent. In 2019, he won first prize at Umbria Jazz's Conad Jazz Contest, awarded by the legendary Paolo Fresu.

Scandroglio was also named the second-best talent of the year in Top Jazz 2020 and emerged as the winner of the 2021 Getxo International Jazz Competition in Bilbao. These honors highlight Scandroglio's extraordinary musical skills, placing him among the most promising jazz musicians of his generation
